MR. G. GRIBBLE

MR Gribble!
Here I go out into the world of business with two of your classes under my belt! (DECA & Tourism) You wouldn't believe the head start your classes have given me in practical business know how. See you in the years to come.

Your friend,
Jandavid DeWitt
class of '79
(And im not learning from Jeff!)

Let me tell you one thing Gribble, you've been the best right-hand man I've had in a long, long time why in the world don't you just blow this funny farm and go out and make a few million? You must admit, even though I didn't do to much in here, I never skipped! (Must have liked something in here.) Seriously though, I don't think that I've ever learned more from a class than in here. ~~Rembe~~ Remember, education you take with you! Enough already.

Go, Go, Go!!

Chris Kaiser

G. Gribble

Mr. Gribble - you have propably screwed me up more than any other teacher I've had yet. When I came in I knew what I wanted to do with my life. I wanted to become an accountant now I don't know weather to start my own business, build a shoping center or what. Oh well thats education. Some day I'll screw my head on right and stop being so honest and nice and be a business man. I never for get those five thing; Money, Health, Family happiness, Peace of Mind, and Job content; that we talked about. D.E.C.A. wouldn't have been the same with out you. Keep up the Bad puns there your trade mark. You know I'll see you again so have fun.

your Most Dedicated student this year,
Marsh Kellegren

O.K. Gribble,
I had a fun time in
your class, but you have put me through alot, (jobs too short, well I showed you!)
I learned alot thanx
i'll see ya next year
(arn't you lucky!!)
love Eileen
(VARon the 3rd)

Mr. Gribble!
I hardly know what to say....
I still can't believe I'm graduating!
I want you to know that you and your classes (DECA and Tourism) have been very, very special to me.
They are among the few classes in which I feel I have learned something that I will really use later on.
Thanks for all your help and support
(and the thousand points on my manual).
I'll never forget "my" letter to the Bellevue Athletic Club that you wrote.
Thanks again.
Love,
Pam Tate

P.S. wish you could have come to Wash. DC.
for Nationals in '18!

Mr. Gribble
DE has been very interesting! I learned a lot. Thanks for a great class - keep the students as busy next year as your have this year! Paul Richardson

Mr Gribble!

WOOPS!

What a teacher! You don't realize what an ~~influence~~ influence you've had on me (and Deca) I am no longer a D-U-M-B teenager anymore - that's for sure. Laura & I just totally cracked up at your jokes - even ones you didn't mean to make! Well, you've definately ~~really~~ given me a head start on "conquering" the big world - I am going to have to come back and visit you guys alot. You really made my senior year an enjoyable one. Oh now, come on Gribble! ← Always Remember area competition - they kept on calling M.I. winners, then state (just the oppisite) you must've felt a little let down - but you still supported us. Remember the Portland trip - you kept on pulling moss quantities of wool out of the bins - what makes me laugh is that you don't even mean to be funny sometimes - you just are! ect, ect, ect. Those Deca Diamond cookies - what ever became of the extra 10 million? I really think you are the → most enjoyed Cabin at Pine...

I am glad you pushed us through w/ your "go, go go"
It was worth it.
- Laura & I will definately be haunting you next year - you'll never get rid of us!

Sally Nash - look on Page 143 to see a future star!

. . . Quick talk. Quiet eyes. A generous smile. A laugh which never quite contained some bursting gleeful thought. Bits of Gloria Stuart. SO FEW! Nudging us to write well. Respecting us. Trusting us to give our best. Caring if we did not. SO LITTLE TIME! A keen intelligence. A sense of excellence. A quality of kindness. BITS! Reliant. Compact. Alert. WHO HAS MORE THAN FRAGMENTS OF ANOTHER HUMAN BEING?

Still, we sensed in Ms. Stuart something of ourselves, some shared struggles. Our split love for freedom and security. The fight to be just yourself in a mob which daily tries to make you everybody else. Our need to say "Yes!" to life, when so many say "No!" to it. Ms. Stuart fought the same battles. She was one of us.

Yet her final gift to us was her difference from us. Unlike us Ms. Stuart lived with imminent death. Facing death, she chose to reach out to the risk of living with both arms. She chose to keep her independence and dignity in the midst of the crowd. She chose, while strength remained, to celebrate life: to know the novelty of each new moment, to be surprised by each new instant.

Ms. Stuart's final and greatest gift was a sense of choice. She showed us that we each can cope with our own humanness, that we too have the freedom to choose our attitude, wherever and whoever we are. For this gift we dedicate this annual to her. In this gift we discover the theme of the 1979 Isla yearbook—

A teacher affects eternity; who can tell where her influence stops?

Gloria Stuart

We can never be born enough. We are human beings; for whom birth is a supremely welcome mystery, the mystery of growing; the mystery that happens only and whenever we are faithful to ourselves.

ROYALTY SHINES ON

Queen Aya Blow and King Jim Lovsted.

This royalty was chosen to represent Mercer Island High School during the spirited times of Homecoming week. They were chosen after two ballots: one for nominations and one for finalists. After over a week of anticipation the queen and her court were announced and crowned, first at the Homecoming dance, and second at the Homecoming game against a tough team from Bothell.

"There is no defeat except in giving up."—This year Mercer Island had a rare type of football team. This was a team that had respect for themselves, for each other, and most important of all, for their coaches. This was a team that had poise and confidence, not only in themselves, but in each other as well. This was a team filled with individuals who, for fear of letting themselves, and their teammates, down, could never give up.

These qualities came out in the Interlake game. After being behind in the first half and feeling their season goals resting on this game, the Islanders came out fighting, dominating the second half, ending just two yards short, but keeping their spirit and unity intact.

This was a team with talent. This was a team with character. This was a team which, despite losses, was undefeated.

Fore! Into the sandtrap it goes. Mercer Island golfers competed this year with some truly amazing players. They score 67's and 65's often——every nine holes. The team did defeat both Bellevue and Liberty High School on their way to a 2-6 won-lost record. Coach Jack Barros is looking forward to a better season next year, and the players are looking forward to those early dismissals.

Varsity

Mercer Island's Girls' Varsity Tennis Team, coached by Patty North, ended their season this year with another record of 10-0, making this the twelfth straight year without a loss. The team was sparked this year by four new members, including two promising freshmen. The girls practiced every day for two hours after a supposed one mile jog and sprint up and down the stadium stairs. The team's toughest matches began October 16th with intrasquad competition for King Co.

"We had more depth this year on the team than any of the five years I have coached tennis at Mercer Island. The girls worked well together and were really strong as a team."

J.V.

The Junior Varsity Tennis Team, coached by Jack Dills, was two squads, each practicing every other day for one hour. Excluding mass confusion in the schedule, and numerous rained out matches, the girls wound up with an exceptionally good season. All the girls showed a lot of potential throughout the season, while gaining experience for next year.

The long distance runner knows total loneliness: the loneliness of an all-encompassing pain, the loneliness of a waning will, the loneliness of a flickering hope.

But he also feels an odd and appealing aloneness: the aloneness of breaking loose, of flying free; of feeling once more whole; and, most of all, the aloneness of struggling and triumphing over himself, of transcending himself.

In aloneness the runner reaffirms himself. In aloneness he says "I am." That is what he loves, and that is why he runs.

ISLANDERS 'BURN UP' COMPETITION

Carole Matthews bumps the ball over the net.

The Islander Varsity Squad exploded through all competition and walked away with the KingCo title for the fourth consecutive year. To do this the Islanders maintained an 11-0 win-loss record. The 1978 squad also saw their way to a fifth place in district and a fifth place mark in state.

Liz Meek blasts a spike.

JUNIOR VARSITY SETS RECORD

Nickey Hanson, Nancy Hall, Lori Wells, Erin Light, Beth Waddington, and Janine Cronyn.

The Junior Varsity team up-ended the competition to realize the most dramatic win-loss record in Mercer Island history: 9-2. The team came into the season with tons of natural talent and stamina which helped them to destroy the competition so decisively. If Coach Kiyonaga's Junior Varsity performance is any indication of what is to come, Coach Light can expect another dynamite team next year.

Robin Williams comes up for air.

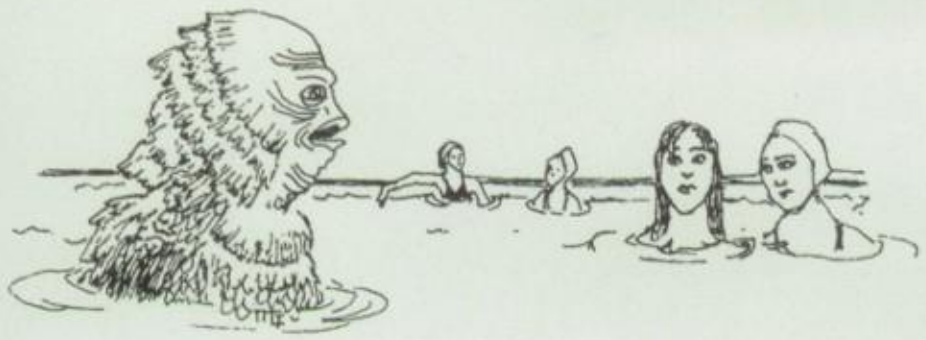
Do it in the water.



This year's girls' swim team did just about everything in the water, including winning. During the regular season, the girls stroked to victory in nine out of eleven meets. They then splashed their way to third place at Kingco, and easily floated to another third at regionals. Eight of the girls went on to state championships where they received seventh place overall.

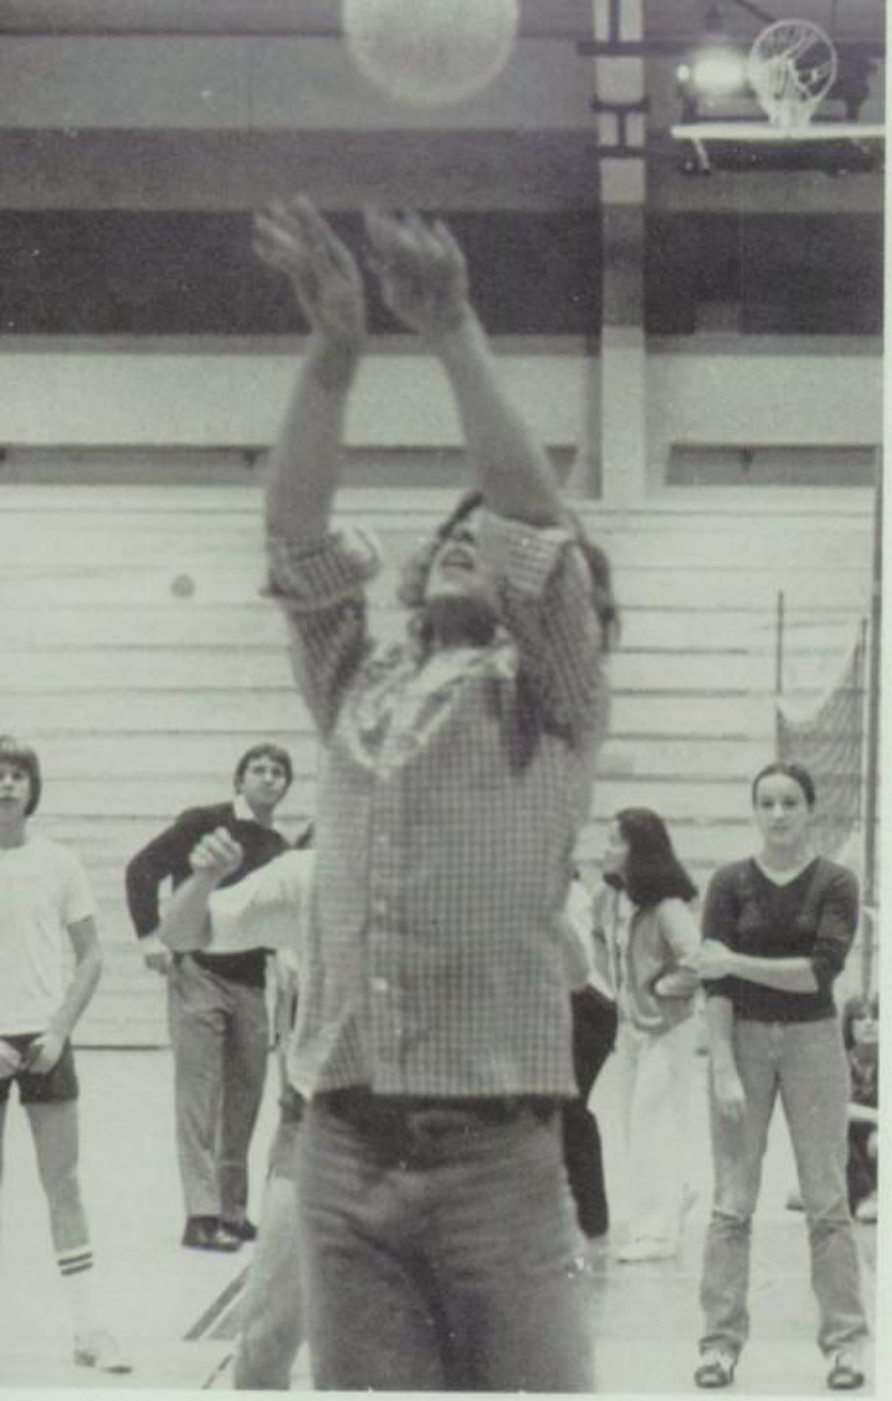
Judges display excitement.

NEW ACTIVITY BECOMES POPULAR

"Mad Dog" Minstrell gets the spike.

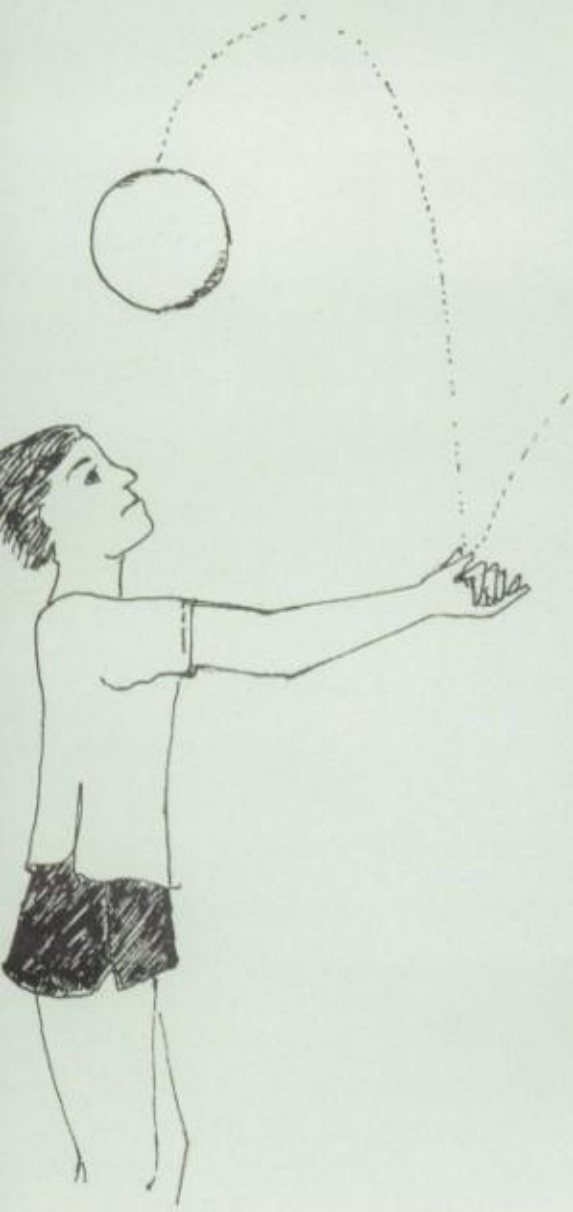
Doug Ilgenfritz sets it up.

Mercer Island High had a new fall activity this year. The students in each second period class formed a volleyball team to play one another. There were many hard fought battles each Tuesday and Wednesday between teams such as "Minstrells' Physical Maniacs" (as the above picture suggests), "Barich's Bolsheviks," and "Fruend's Lasers." The championship was finally won by Don Isaacson's class, which was led by Matt Green and Paul Bain. A good time was had by all.



Mike Judge punching it over.

Now spike it!



Exciting volleyball action.

"Someday,"
Someday, someday we will be called up-
After the storm is all over
After laughing and crying, growing and yearning
After living and dying, knowing-yet learning.

Someday the sky may be shadowed in blackness
He'll put a rainbow into the sky
Our heads may be hanging in Sadness
He'll put his hand in yours and mine

You see, we just don't know what the future holds
It may be cold, as it unfolds-yet remain untold Someday can be today or tomorrow- can be near or far-But yes,
there will be a Someday

-Kenneth Edward Williams

On the morning of January 22, during a time when many of us were preoccupied with registration for second semester, a friend and fellow student died.

Alan Motin, a junior here at MIHS, died from sickle-cell anemia. For the seventeen years of his full life, Alan lived in the shadow of death, but his life formed no shadow. To say that Alan lived a full life is insufficient. His determination and will to make his and other's live's more enjoyable appeared in everything he said and did-everything he touched.

His close friends recall how active Alan's life was—tennis, skiing, basketball, and so many more activities. They smile, remembering that he had "the messiest room in his family." At times he was quiet and yet friendly. As Alan wished it, most of us didn't realize the pain that he bore from day to day. He seemed to sense that only life can conquer death.

Let us remember then, let us each be inspired in our own lives to make the best of any situation.

"Morning Has Broken"

Morning has broken, like the first morning,
Blackbird has spoken like the first bird.
Praise for the singing, Praise for the morning,
Praise for them springing, fresh from the world.

Sweet the rain's new fall, sunlit from heaven,
Like the first dew fall on the first grass.
Praise for the sweetness of the wet garden
Sprung in completeness where his feet pass.

Mine is the sunlight, Mine is the morning,
Born of the one light Eden saw play.
Praise with elation, Praise ev'ry morning,
God's re-creation of the new day.

Morning has broken, like the first morning,
Blackbird has spoken like the first bird.
Praise for the singing, Praise for the morning,
Praise for them springing fresh from the world.

This year's wrestling team was very hard working and dedicated. They possessed a lot of talent but also a lot of inexperience, with half the team being composed of sophomores. Coach Paul Jackson credited the year's success not only to Jeff Wilson, but the togetherness of the team as a whole. Because the team was composed mainly of sophomores and juniors, the team was considered a year to gain the much needed element of experience

Mercer Island's '78-'79 varsity basketball team got off to a strong start this year, winning five games before traveling to Las Vegas, Nevada to compete in the second annual Rancho Holiday Classic. The Islanders placed third in the tournament, ahead of thirteen other teams from Nevada, California, Arizona, Utah and Washington. The highpoint for the Islanders was their triumph over St. Mary's of Phoenix, who were rated among the top fifteen high school teams in the nation. Senior Paul Bain was honored as an all-tournament player.

After returning, the Islanders defeated archrival Juanita. The Islanders then had to push aside two unexpected defeats to move on to one of the team's best records ever.

The 1979 girls Gymnastics team leaped into the season with the help of a fiery new coach—Rick Monroe. At the commencement of the season, high goals were cited by the team. They were to stride away with a King Co title, and by doing so, set a new standard of excellence for teams of the future to strive for.

These goals were not realized. The team squad did have their high points, such as Karen Ball's all-around 8.2, and their slashing victory over Lake Washington. They were a great bunch of girls and they had fun training, helping one another, and competing.

The twisters consisted of, Front: Nyla Lipinski, Lynn Fisher, Claire Williams, Amy Smith, Lori Glatz. Middle: Gina Fiedler, Brucie Spence, Sarah Kellegrew, Susan Caditz, Lisa Vetto. This year, as in the past, Intramural Basketball was played every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday in the gym between 2:30 and 3:30. As usual, the boys' teams were tough and very physical, and in many cases the team with the sharpest elbows emerged the winners. The girls on the other hand, had a different style of play.

It was a great accomplisment for them if they could go without getting called for travelling or double-dribble for two minutes. They even scored a basket once or twice a game. The TWINNERS and the PT's battled it out for the boys' championship, with the TWINNERS coming out on top. Drew Fischer was the leading scorer and was also the game's most valuable player. In the girls' final game, it was the BEACH BLANKET BIMBOS edging out the DANDRUFFS by one point.

The Girls' Varsity Basketball Team, headed by a new coach, Beth Thoriakson, ended with a successful season, with a record of 4-10 which put them in their division playoffs. With three six-footers on the team the Islanders grabbed more than their share of rebounds. The Varsity Team will only be losing three Seniors this year - Laura Scalzo, Sue Hamre, and Elizabeth Meek. Sue Hamre also headed the list of handicaps and was out for most of the season because of a knee injury during tryouts. Because of the loss of only three Seniors and many strong players coming up from J.V. the varsity coach is looking forward to a great team next season.

> "A season marked with losses by the scores was a season of progress underneath. Our athletes greatly improved in their abilities, experience and knowledge of basketball. If we continue to learn from every situation, we can never really lose, for we have gained."

Another Islander victory.

O.K. girls, hit the showers.

After a week and a half of vigorous tryouts the Girls' Basketball Team began the season with eleven Varsity players and thirteen Junior Varsity players, many of which played on both teams. Both teams held practice for two hours every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday with games on Wednesday and Friday evenings. These games included a large amount of support from the bench and from the stands. Both teams appreciated the volunteer work of the manager, Barb Weeks, the timers, and the scorekeepers who all did a great job.

Skill and determination played a large part in the success of the Junior Varsity team this year. According to Coach Linda Fuller, the team had a lot of depth this year allowing her to use almost any combination of players at any time. The team had a naturally strong defense, but offense was stressed as well. All the players worked well as a team and were continually improving throughout the nine week season. Among the 13 Junior Varsity Players was Cecilia Palmer, an exchange student from Sweden.

ASB officers are elected at the year's end to preside over the next year, as are the senior and junior class officers. Sophomore class officers are elected in the early part of each year. The ASB officers and class officers together form the Associated Student Body. The ASB presents all games, meets, and matches.

The SAB officers are elected at the beginning of each year and act as mediators between the student body and the administrative staff.

Drill team, a select group of twenty-eight girls delighted Mercer Island fans at assemblies, pep rallies, and at football and basketball games this year. The drill team was led by captain Aimee Williams; Lts: Linda Mossafer, Kelly McClintock and Susan Bianchi. The spirited squad performed colorful routines with unity and style. Each member wore newly designed white tuxedos, creating a new image for future drill teams. A newly formed flag corps, with Carol Gay; captain, Jody Pepple; co-captain provided extra action and excitement to drill team routines. Both squads worked closely with the marching band at half time during an already successful football season.

Mercer Girls Serve with Style

Not everyone can be a Mercer Girl. Mercer Girls, an honorary service club composed of select senior girls, lent a helping hand at graduation '78, registration, open house, concerts, and home sporting events. A member is chosen on the basis of past activities and recommendations from teachers. The Mercer Girls were enthusiastic and willing to sell tickets during a game. They pitched in their ideas to plan a winter tolo. This year, the theme of the Mercer Girls' tolo was Winter Wonderland. At the end of the year, a new group was selected from the junior class.

Dear Mr. Gribble-
I have enjoyed having D.E. with you so much! I have never learned so much which was so interesting! Your little jokes and sayings will keep me laughing for many years! Have a nice summer! And enjoy having my class next year!

Earthlings Respect Their Home

To live in harmony with their environment is the Committee to Save the Earth's goal, and all of the club's efforts are spent spreading that philosophy. This year, C.S.E. sold glass, tin, aluminum and newspaper which they collected at the recycling center. With that money, they sponsored the building of an electric car, helped pay for an environmental research project at the University of Washington, and paid members of other clubs to work at the recycling center.

Chessmen wage war!

Attack! Feint! Counterattack! — With thirty-two pieces and sixty-four squares, the chessboard becomes a world of war. The king falls prey to bishops, knights, rooks, pawns, and the war is over. One player is the victor, the other the vanquished. This year's chess club, led by captain Erik Haugland, waged war among themselves and with other schools. They sought to sharpen their skills and to know the thrill of clashing in chessboard battles.

Pegasus makes magic.

Writers make magic with words. They look—intensely—at our everyday world. Soon they see in that usual and familiar world . . . the unusual and strange, and with words they magically make the invisible visible. Their work was published this year in Pegasus, our literary magazine, and called short stories, essays, descriptions, and poems. But the writers who wrote well and we readers who read carefully know that they had really made magic. Truly, the Pegasus staff, Dana Hendel, editor; and Carol Pencke, advisor, compiled a publication to be proud of.

Go, Fight, Beat 'em!

Cheerleading is more than just jumping, more than just yelling. It is dedication. It is demanding. The Islander cheerleaders spent one week at a cheerleading camp in Ellensburg. Up at six, down at eleven. They also spent an hour in class every day, all year long. That was demanding! They sold pins, donuts, and raffle tickets to help pay for their winter and spring uniforms. The squad sparked spirit at home games, meets, and matches, and at many away functions, also. That is dedication! These cheerleaders and yell kings conducted crowds of confused voices uniting them to form a single mighty voice. These were our conductors. These were our cheerleaders, our yell kings.

The sparkle and spirit of this year's junior varsity cheerleading squad were true treats at all minor home sporting events this year. The team in their own words, "threw a little more light" (and recognition) on all of our fantastic sports. The squad strove to keep school spirit high this year, succeeding overwhelmingly. To guarantee their success, they went to a cheerleading camp during the summer. Next stop, varsity squad '80.

ISLA staffers snapped countless photographs. They literally crackled under the constant strain of finding suitable pictures, designing pleasing spreads, and composing colorful copy. Anyone who heard the sounds coming from room 308 will attest to that. Still, each month forty-eight packaged pages popped out of that room, bound for the publisher. Soon the rookie staff was keeping the pictures interesting, the writing imaginative, and the layouts eye-catching. In fact, by year's end they were saying with pride and confidence "Snap it—snip it—say it—and ship it!"

"Our republic and its press will rise or fall together," said Joseph Pulitzer. To keep democracy alive we must know what the facts are. This is as true in the halls of Mercer Island High School as it is in the halls of Congress. This year the Mercer High Times maintained its lofty and difficult goal of accurately and fairly informing the students and helping them make sound judgements. Its articles showed an increasing polish and professionalism.

Mike Gray and Leslie Clark desperately go over their final copy for mistakes and libelous statements.

Participation in a World Strategy Simulation and a local debate competition enabled the members to explore world progression towards peace, social justice, and better standards of life.

Society Honors New Members

As long as Mercer Island keeps their high standards, the Honor Society will continue to grow. This year, the Honor Society, led by advisor Linda Brown, initiated the class of '81 representatives. Qualifications for admittance specified that each admittee have a better than B average. The officers for this year's society were: Gary Schoenfeld; president, Dana Ashton; Vice-President, Rob McAuley; Secretary, Jeff Morgan; Treasurer. Keep up the good work, Mercer Island.

Lab Resource Offers a Choice

Teaching is helping your friend to learn. The Lab Resource Club was a group of fifty-two students who were quietly very busy at work. Through a business venture of making pins and engraving name plates, the club earned funds to buy supplies for the year. Besides the experience in business, the Lab Resource Club offered students an alternative to a conventional education. The advisors, Sven Goldmanis and Blanche Whitney, provided instruction to small groups of students. This individual attention allows students to excel without the restraint of a structured institution.

Medical Careers Bleeds Alternative

The Medical Careers Club is a group of students who are interested in health professions. Through lectures and field trips the members became acquainted with medical professions and, at the same time, broadened their knowledge of science. The club, with the help of advisors Jane Akita and Jack Barros, arranged a very successful health fair. Thirty health organizations participated in testing blood pressure, offering answers to medical questions and providing demonstrations to motivate students toward better health. The Medical Careers Club was again successful in their promotion and coordination of the annual Puget Sound Blood Drive. Through helping others the members of this club provided a needed service as they became better acquainted with the demands of a medical career.

DECA Does the Job

Area, state, and national competition . . . Governors' Conference . . . leadership camp . . . fund raising activities . . . These were some of the activities of the Distributive Education Clubs of America at Mercer Island High School. DECA is an organization of high school, junior collegiate, and college students, whose school studies and vocational interests are centered in business management. The major activities of DECA were competitive events at the area, state, and national levels, where students demonstrated their skills and knowledge by competing individually in specific areas of interest learned in the Distributive Education classroom and/or in their part time place of employment. The five Mercer Island DECA chapters, one for each DE class, have acquired national prominence by winning an abundance of honors and awards at national contests. The Mercer Island DECA programs were also featured in a recent national DECA publication.

DECA had a strong following from its alumni, which awarded a scholarship to a deserving DE student this year.

ECC Shows Recognition

Social activities, such as ethnic dinners, Martin Luther King Day, Asian Awareness Day, and a community project were the major activities of the Ethnic Cultural Club. Reverend Samuel McKinney, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church and a friend of Dr. Martin Luther King, was a speaker at the assembly, along with Mrs. Joan Williams, manager and management training officer for the Port of Seattle, and the St. Theresa's Ebenezer Choir. At the Asian Awareness Day, speakers gave presentations on such topics as Asian cooking, dance, literature, religion, art, and stereotypes. Club members made gifts for the elderly at the Keiro Nursing Home, an all minority facility in Seattle, as their community project.

The main purpose of Ethnic Cultural Club is to foster and encourage a working relationship between all racial groups and to instill a strong cultural awareness within the school.

The ethnic cultural club successfully produced its Martin Luther King Day Assembly.

K.M.I.H. Radio Mercer Island, "the voice of the student body" regularly aired weekdays 7:30 AM to 11:00 PM. DJ's produced a two hour show once a week—Jazz or Rock. Each Broadcaster picked his own music from the eight thousand donated promotional records. A non-commercial and Diversified Smorgasbord of sound resulted, and K.M.I.H. "Filled the gap left by the big rock stations most of the students listen to," says Bob Gwynne, Program Adviser. Other features included Comedy, Blues, School Board election debates, and home basketball games with Harry Dedrikson. The station's ten watt FM-Directional 90.1 mhz carried easily to Queen Anne Hill and the U of W, as the request line demonstrated. Unfortunately, listeners at the south end of the rock needed a strong receiver to pull it in. Because of the Federal communications Commission's stiff regulation to quietly push small stations —Musical Sandboxes—off the air, Ralph Cromwell was concerned whether or not our station would fill the airwaves next fall. If it's off next year we will all suffer when the "Whopping Ten Watt Funk Alternative" stops cranking the tunes.

Bowling Team Knocks 'Em Over

Three years of absence and then, like the phoenix, bowling was reborn by a group of enthusiastic patrons. Their goals were simple. They wanted to create a championship team, win all KingCo and state play while becoming recognized as the best team in Mercer Island history. They had incredible strength but fell just short of their mark. The team is looking towards next year's competition with fiery anticipation.

This year's Coed Club, formerly known as Girl's Club, changed their name and constitution to allow guys to participate in their many activities, too. Though open to every student in the school, the club is headed by about sixteen cabinet members. This year's activities included the Big-Sis Little-Sis picnic for incoming sophomore girls, Great Pumpkin day, and Halloween festivities, a Thanksgiving food drive, Christmas Caroling, a Do-It-Yourself fair which included displays from various departments, cupcake-O-grams for Valentine's Day, The Oedipus Banquet (a father-daughter, mother-son, dinner-dance), Spring Tolo, and various potlucks and parties between cabinet members. This year's officers were: Julie Paden, president; Bee Wolfe, vice president; Jana Zemo, treasurer; and Cindy Katz, secretary. The advisors were Mrs. Virginia Stimpson and Mrs. Diane Hogle. Regarding the Coed change this year, president Julie Paden said, "Going co-ed has really made a big change in the club's atmosphere and activities!"

Will You Dance With Me?

This year's Canteen Committee had a tough assignment ahead of them. They were responsible for putting on the Canteen dances in such a way that people would want to attend them. They were in charge of advertisement, ticket sales, and the hiring of the band. They also hired the guards who patrol the school grounds. The club had a problem with low membership, but advisor Susan Hagist is expecting a better turn-out next year.

Debaters Counterpoin Opposition

Debate, one of Mercer Island's most successful activities enjoyed another victorious season this year. The team competed in more than a dozen tournaments in Washington state alone. They gave two especially outstanding performances—at Western Washington University—and at Gonzaga University. Champions Mark Duvall and Lynn Karoly also traveled to Virginia in February to compete in a national tournament on the topic of Energy.

Debaters have many different areas in which to compete. They can compete with a partner or they can go it alone. If they choose the latter, they can choose any of the following divisions: oratory, extemporaneous, interpretive reading, expository, or impromptu speeches.

Coaches Mary Lindquist and Bob Maier led this highly competitive team and plan on another great year in '80.

Halloween and Christmas parties, Christmas caroling, and attending the Islander football and basketball games. These were some of the activities accomplished by this year's Sky Club, formerly called Special Aides. Sky Club, which stands for Special Kiwanis Youth is an important organization designed to aid the handicapped children of the community.

One main feature of the Sky Club was their One-to-One program in which members worked with the children on an individual basis. Such work included helping them with their homework, going to movies or watching television with them. They also did volunteer work at the Cerebral Palsy Rehabilitation Center.

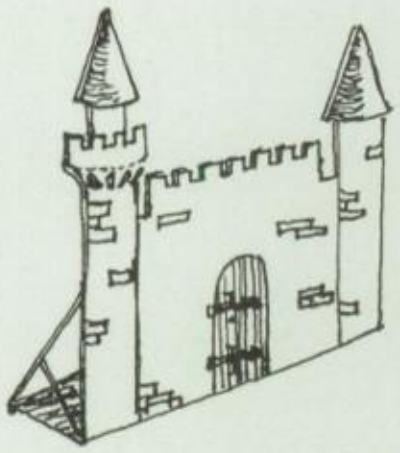
Crew Sets 'em up



Did you ever wonder where the plays got the great scenes? Did you ever know that there was a small group of people that actually made the scenes? The Set Crew is one of the drama department's most important groups. Using a small model made by artist Ren Haugland, the crew use their talent to construct a large scale duplicate. The Set Crew was also responsible for changing the sets between the acts. These were the talented people who made the scenes for the "The Music Man" and for "The Skin of Our Teeth."

Speakers are a blast! At least that's what this dedicated group thought. This is the P.A. Club, a club that had never voiced their existence before. Their duty was to set up the audio equipment before any activity in the gym, such as home sporting events, or assemblies. This year's club had very few members, but now that they are recognized they hope for a larger team next year.

Russian Flu Club Spreads Feverish Enthusiasm

Three more Mercer Island students decide they would like to join the Russian Flu club as Mr. Snyder checks their sincerity.

The Russian Flu club, a highly active club this year, started out small, but after their first meeting, membership jumped to epidemic proportions. Their activities this year included a field trip to Harborview Hospital, where the club spent a week reviewing procedures and spreading good cheer. The club also travelled across the state to promote their cause. The club planned to establish a hot fever disco on the island, but the idea was dropped. After this exciting year the club is looking forward to another productive season in 1980. To insure an early start next year they have frozen their mascot in a test tube.

Music Makes the World Go Roun

This year's music department consisted of five sections; the Symphonic Band, Stage Band, Orchestra, Choir, and Chamber Singers. The Symphonic Band made up of ninety members was recognized as the largest ever in Mercer Island history and as one of the best in the KingCo Conference. Our Stage Band was active throughout the year performing at the Father-Daughter Dinner Dance, Vancouver B.C. International Festival, and many other events. The Choir and Chamber Singers took part in KingCo choir and jazz competitions, the Second Annual Mercer Island Variety Show, and most excitingly participated in the making of a record. Combined with Bellevue High School's Orchestra, our Orchestra performed in several local concerts in addition to competition in Vancouver. Mercer Island, keep making that music!

The MIHS Harlequins chose "The Skin of Our Teeth" for their fall play this year. With sets by Mr. Ren Haugland, Thorntorn Wilder's comedy proved successful under the direction of Mr. Jay Caley. The production concerned the durability of both the good and bad aspects of humanity, as seen in the Antrobus family, the play's main characters. History follows the Antrobus family through the Ice Age, Noah's Flood, and a third World War. In spite of the constant disasters they face, the indefatigable human spirit shows through in the Antrobuses' desire to rebuild their world all over again with a new hope for the future.

"Music Man", by the MIHS Choir, Orchestra, and Harlequins, demonstrated the rewards of hard work and continuous rehearsing. The production involved a traveling salesman posing as a bandleader in a remote Iowa town. After being easily misled, the townspeople later recognize the salesman's fraudulent activities, threatening to tar-and-feather him. The local librarian, however, manages to save the day be convincing the town of his good intentions.

The musical was combined under the efforts of Mr. Steve Estes, Mr. Lylburn Layer, and Mr. Jay Caley. The colorful sets were designed by Mr. Ren Haugland.

This year's team had some exceptional tracksters, including Scott Block in the sprints, Duane Burgin in hurdles, and George Winterscheid and Dave Gehrig in the shot put. MI's coaches were proud of this year's squad and their hard work and determination, not to mention their outstanding season.

Oh, those long stairs before the season.

Girls

Girl's Track began their new year with two new coaches, Spencer Welch and Kathy MacKay. In the early season, these two coaches began to settle down into their roles, and started to get the team ready for the tough competition ahead. The returning stars were joined by many promising sophomores. Once divided into the varsity and junior varsity squads, the team began to strain and train for the first meet. Once again, this tough team brought home some fine trophies for the already stuffed Islander trophy case.

Brett Burtenshaw and coach Lang, 1978

Dexterity, strength, stamina, and guts are the essential ingredients for a gymnast striving for excellence. Gymnastics is a rapidly growing sport in the U.S. which appears as more of an art than a competitive sport. M.I. contributed its share of talent. This year the team consisted of 21 dedicated gymnasts led by a hard working coach.

At the beginning of the season there was concern as to the readiness of the gymnasts to compete because a portion of the team was on the swim team. Resulting from the optimism which prevailed throughout the team, much confidence was generated resulting in a very successful season.

The loss of Brett Burtenshaw from the class of "78", an outstanding member of the gymnastics team, was deeply felt by those who had the privilege of knowing him well. He was liked and respected for his kindness, intelligence, integrity, and joyful nature that brought happiness to those around him. Brett's strong character enabled him to set high goals for himself and he had the determination and perseverance to attain them.

Teamwork . . . A Key to Success

Strive to become number one! Work to be champions! This year's soccer team set such goals and fought to meet them. They helped each other achieve their own individual goals, and developed their skills to master the field. As a whole, the team was a strong one. Eleven returning senior players helped make it so. Coach Gordon Osborn believed that hard work and the team's consistent play proved vital because of the strong competitive threat shown by other teams.

MI Bats Out Competition

In past years, Mercer Island's Baseball teams have not met the high standards set by other Mercer Island teams. This year, however, the team claimed to finally have it all together. First year coach Don Isaacson was confident but when he was asked about cuts, he replied "Cuts? What are cuts? I am a rookie coach, I do not know anything." The team was strengthened by a majority of returning players from last year. The team had a strong infield, with Jon Scanlan, Jeff Kane and Byron Blauman combining for the double plays and strong outfielding by Harry Dedrickson.

And it's a hit!!!

Badminton Battles the East

Strategy and Strength . . . Power and Poise the sport of Badminton is one that takes great skill and agility. It is played with featherweight rackets for smashing the birdie over the net. Mercer Island competes with the other teams in the Eastside League.

Although the team has a well known coach, there were only enough girls to form a varsity squad. The team was strengthened by three returning seniors - Sanny Bold, Debbie Fergin and Joan Butler; and returning junior Jane Olsen. The new players were Kory Kugler, Cindy Katz, Cecilia Palmer and Jelena Ivkovic. Even with this small turnout, the team found Badminton to be a fun and challenging sport. For those who enjoy tennis, ping pong or pickleball, this racquet sport is an excellent choice for both recreation and competition.

Softball Shows Its Stuff

Debbie Baron shows her form up at bat.

Beginning where last year's team left off, the 1979 Girls' Softball Team arranged their talent early in the season and continually improved up through the last game. The team included nine returning players and nine newcomers. The two co-captains for the team were seniors Jackie Ritmire and Lynette VanPeursem. Because of the loss of only four seniors Coach Beth Thorlakson expects an even better season next year.

Marilyn Sherman goes for the grounder.

Strings and Things

Mercer Island has one of the state's best boys' tennis teams in past years: in thirteen years, the Islanders have been the state champs twelve times. Each year, the team, led by coach Jack Dills, gets together to defend this prestigious title, it has taken hard work and determination to be the best. This year, the singles side of the tennis team was stronger due to the loss of three strong members of the doubles side. Coach Dills commented in the early season, "The guys are out practicing every day after school. They are all very determined and also good players. We have a young and promising that is rapidly improving." The team finished up to standards, adding another successful season to their already impressive record.

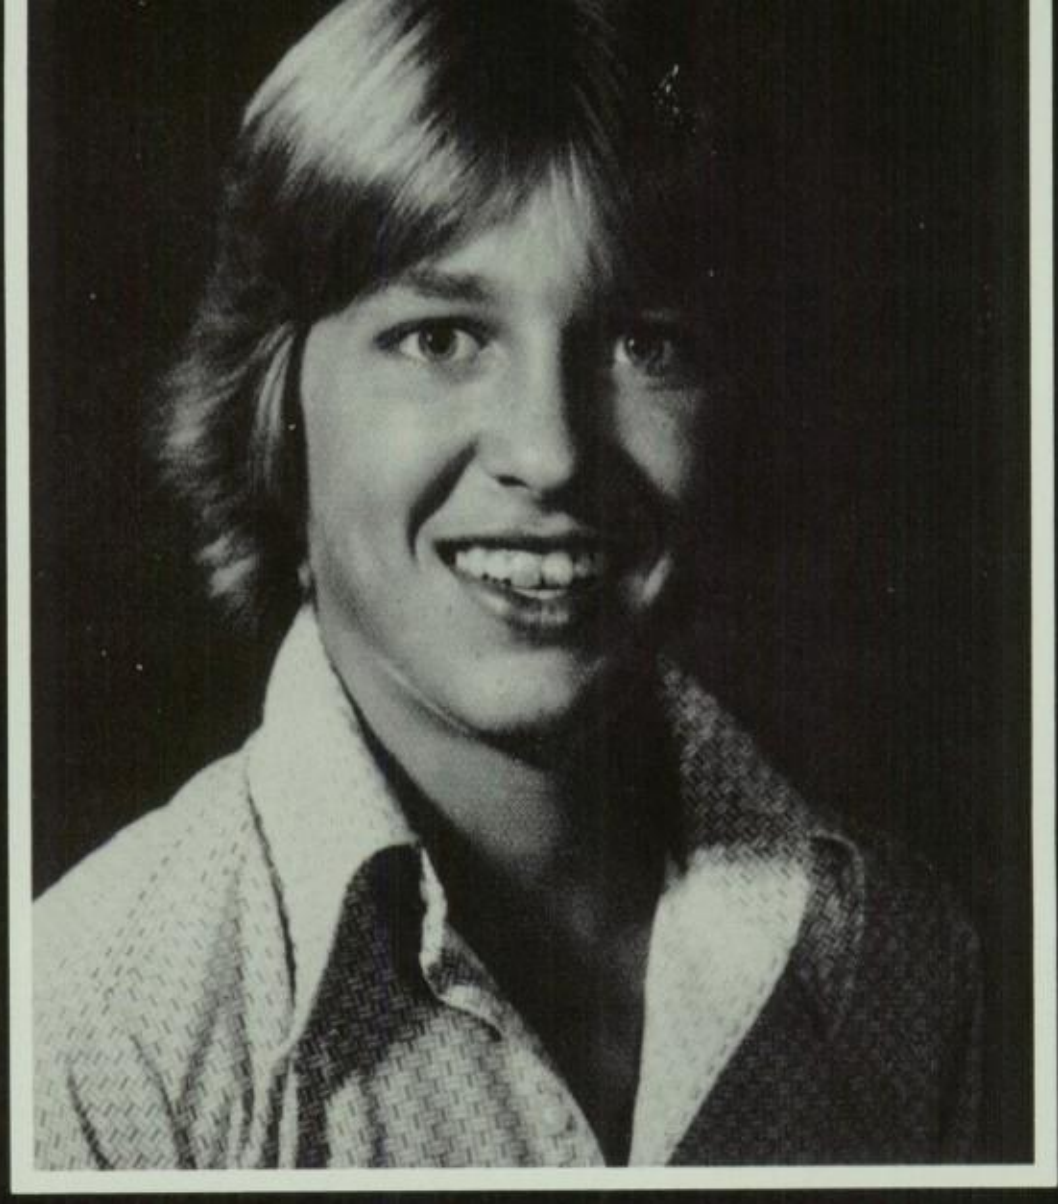
SENIORS



Life consists of three elements: The Grace of God, a few laughs, and a few friends. This teaches us to put our faith in God first, teaches us not to take ourselves too seriously, and it makes loving people most important of all.

Jeff Nelsen was raised in a thoroughly Christian atmosphere. Although we cannot judge the state of his soul, by what we would observe, Jeff believed that the Grace of God was important in his life.

Besides the Grace of God, a few laughs. Everyone who knew Jeff, knew his laughter. The ability to laugh at oneself, to get others to take themselves and their problems less seriously, is a wonderful gift, and Jeff had mastered it. His friends know this . . . and they'll never forget it.

His friends were many. His ability to make friends was perhaps his greatest characteristic as a person. Jeff put the love of people above all else. People, his friends . . . they were most important to Jeff.

Loving one another, taking the time to make friends and to keep them is what life is all about. To bring fun and laughter into a pretty up-tight world is more warmth from the sun. You take it for granted. We appreciate it only when it is gone. We only appreciate him who caused us to smile when he is no longer around to make us smile.

The sound of Jeff Nelsen's laughter no longer rings in our ears, but the echo of it will linger in our memory.

from memorial by Fr. James Gandrau

We, the editors of this annual, would like to dedicate the senior section to Jeff Nelsen and Shelley McMillan who would have graduated this year.

"... the most important thing in living was to reach out and touch perfection in that which they most loved to do ..."
Jonathon Livingston Seagull

Hurdles, high jumping, tennis, traveling, friends, follies and freedom. Shelley McMillan, who died on June 11, 1977, loved the active life more than anything else in the world. She valued freedom: freedom to run, freedom to love, and freedom to be. Her freedom allowed her to be what she was; caring, sensitive, outgoing, and sometimes just crazy.

She went all out, and tried to be the best in everything she did. She succeeded in being one of the finest people that anyone who met her had ever known.

Her friends were very important to her, and she cared very much for each and every one of them. She strove to make friends of every person that she met. Shelley was sensitive about other's feelings, and was always careful not to hurt anyone.

Shelley felt very close to Jonathon Livingston Seagull. She felt the same way he did and loved his views of freedom. Her family has kept her feelings alive, by donating a beautiful carved-wood figure of a seagull, to be awarded each year to the most inspirational girls' track team member.

The memories of her will never die; she will always be remembered as a friendly, caring, wonderful person.

Hey There Mr. G

IDIOTS OF DUMB AMERICA

Well Gribble I made it regardless of my Procrastination, Poor memory, irresponsibility, Crazyness, insanity and various other antics. But thanks for all the P.O.W.S you get out of it what you put into it. We can ~~do~~ Solve this My way or we can Solve this your way. Notebooks are graveyards of knowlege.

really though, I got alot out of DECA And I Think that DECA was my best class in High School.

Dave W. Perkins Jr. (III

Mr. Gribble, I'd like to thank you very much for everything you've done for me. I've learned more in D.E. and Tourism than any other class. The experiences I've had in DECA I will remember for the rest of my life. I'd also like to thank you for that extra kick-in-the pants when I needed it. I don't know what I would have done with out you. Your a good man Mr Gribble, Thanks for everything.
